Welcome!

The organising committee of the Göstling-Hochkar Ski Club welcomes you and is pleased about your interest and/or participation in the FIS Masters Ski World Championships 2023 in Göstling-Hochkar in Lower Austria.

The major event, widely referred to as the "Masters Ski World Championships", but called the "FIS World Masters Alpine Ski Criterium" by the FIS, will be held in Göstling-Hochkar in Lower Austria from 20 March to 25 March 2023.

This brochure is intended for all the participants, as well as for all officials, helpers, partner companies, visitors and other interested parties, and is intended to provide them with the most important information about this major international event as well as about the organiser and its partners.

The international Masters ski sport

"Masters" are athletes over the age of 30 and must have their own starting licence from the FIS for participation in the international FIS Masters ski races, for which their own Masters race insurance is also a prerequisite. This is the only way for the "Masters" to take part in the international FIS Masters Cup and World Championship ski races.

Similar to the Alpine FIS Ski World Cup, there is also a worldwide FIS Masters Cup in the Masters ski sport with numerous Masters ski events every year.

The Masters ski sport has the annual FIS Masters Ski World Championships, the "FIS World Masters Criterium".

The Alpine Masters Ski World Championship

The annual highlight in the Masters ski sport is the "FIS World Masters Alpine Ski Criterium" (= WCM), also known as the "Masters Ski World Championships".

This Masters Ski World Championships is held annually by the International Ski Federation, the FIS, and awarded to suitable, experienced ski destinations to hold the event.

According to FIS specifications, an additional "FIS Masters Cup Race" must be held at every Masters World Championship as a supplement and an additional reserve day must also be planned for any postponements that may be necessary due to weather conditions.

The Masters Ski World Championships is the world's largest official FIS alpine skiing event for Masters athletes. Depending on the venue, between 400 and 500 participants take part in this annual Masters World Championships, which lasts about one week.

The Masters World Championships includes the Slalom, Giant Slalom and Super Giant competitions on race slopes suitable for the Masters. The usually huge starting field is divided into 3 categories:

- » Cat. A = Men under 60 years of age
- » Cat. B = Men 60 years and older
- » Cat. C = Women

The Masters Ski World Championships in Göstling, Lower Austria

In 2014 we had the privilege of hosting the world's largest official Masters ski event, the Masters Ski World Championships, for the first time in Lower Austria, with over 500 participants for almost a week. The Göstling-Hochkar Ski Club has proven itself as the organiser and received much praise for the organisation and implementation.

Due to the very positive feedback from all over the world on our previous race events in Göstling-Hochkar, the International Ski Federation had already entrusted us again with the organisation of the "Masters World Championships 2020" in 2019, which was scheduled to take place from 21 to 28 March 2020. But unfortunately, it had to be cancelled at short notice 14 days before the event due to the onset of the Corona pandemic.

The FIS has now given us the opportunity to organise the 2nd Masters World Championships, which were cancelled in 2020, in Göstling in March 2023.

Therefore the "FIS Masters World Championships" as well as a Masters World Cup race will now take place for the 2nd time in Göstling/Ybbs on the Hochkar from 20 to 25 March 2023.

This series of events will thus constitute the sporting highlight in the official alpine ski racing calendar in Lower Austria in 2023 and will extend over almost an entire week. Around 400-500 participants from all over the world will be competing daily for World Championship medals in Göstling in the Hochkar ski area.

The 9 Masters World Championships and 3 Masters Cup ski races will be held in the Slalom, Giant Slalom and Super Giant disciplines on 2 different slopes, in some cases simultaneously, in the Hochkar ski area. The official team captains' meetings, the award ceremonies and accompanying events will be held in Göstling in the town centre to allow the participants to interact with the local people.

Hence the province of Lower Austria and the Göstling-Hochkar region are now joining the ranks of very prominent Masters World Championships organisers such as Mammoth Mountain (USA), Reiteralp (AUT), Megève (FRA), Piancavallo (ITA), Meiringen Hasliberg (SUI), Spinderler Mühle (CZE), Abetone (ITA) or St. Moritz (SUI).

The cooperation and support of the business community as well as the public sector are important prerequisites for the perfect and successful holding of these World Championships. The planning, preparation as well as the implementation of the ski races themselves are carried out by the staff and helpers of the Ski Club Göstling on an exclusively voluntary basis.

This series of events will definitely generate additional economic momentum for Göstling and the entire region while at the same time providing a great opportunity for it to present itself as a World Championships ski resort for the second time.

FIS MASTERS Ski World Championship at Göstling as a special highlight

Top sports events, such as the FIS MASTERS Ski World Championship at Göstling, contribute towards enhancing the attractiveness of skiing as a leisure-time activity. In particular, they have a significant advertising value for winter tourism in our region, which boasts some fifteen skiing areas, easily accessible and suitable for both beginners and advanced skiers, with an unmatched cost-benefit ratio. Hosting the FIS MASTERS World Criterium at Göstling therefore is fully in line with Lower Austria's philosophy of supporting sports in all its forms and making it accessible to the population.

Lower Austria enjoys an excellent reputation not only as a popular holiday destination. With numerous major sporting events - from the beach volleyball event in Baden and the Semmering Ski World Cup to the Wachau Cycling Days, the Wachau Marathon and the FIS MASTERS World Criterium on Hochkar - Lower Austria has further strengthened its position as a region of sports in recent years. Such popular events, as well as renowned sports competitions viewed by large TV audiences throughout Austria and beyond, account for Lower Austria's reputation as a region of sports.

The Göstling event acts as an ambassador of Lower Austria, highlighting the special image and the unmistakable profile of the region and stimulating the tourism industry. Alongside the sporting highlights of the MASTERS Ski World Championship at Göstling-Hochkar, a varied programme of side events will attract visitors from the entire region. With this in mind, I would like to thank the organisers as well as their many assistants for their enormous commitment and wish the roughly 500 athletes from about 25 countries, as well as the sports fans watching the races along the slopes and in the finish area, an exciting, fair and accident-free event.

FOREWORD

ÖSV President Roswitha Stadlober

Dear Masters Ski Family,

the successful hosting of the World Championships in 2014 has already shown how much the Austrian Ski Federation, the province of Niederösterreich (Lower Austria), the entire region and the Göstling-Hochkar Ski Club are supporting this event. After the Corona-related postponement, the popular ski resort will now host an “FIS Masters World Criterium” for the second time from March 20 to 25, 2023.

With Katharina Gallhuber, Kathrin Zettel and Thomas Sykora, the Göstling Ski Club has brought out many Austrian ski stars in recent decades and has also made a name for itself as a great organizer of national and international ski races.

I am convinced that the responsible persons of the ski club Göstling-Hochkar will provide excellent and fair conditions on the slopes and will present themselves again as a perfect host at the Masters season highlight on the Hochkar. Hundreds of athletes from around 30 nations will show that passion for alpine skiing has no age limit and that top performances are possible even in an advanced age.

I would like to express my sincere thanks to the organizing club, SC Göstling-Hochkar, and especially to the many volunteers, without their effort it would not be possible to stage an event of this dimension, that also brings an important impact to tourism. With their immense work and spirit, they contribute significantly to make the “FIS Masters World Criterium 2023” an excellent showcase for the Austrian Ski Federation and thus also for the sports country Austria.

I wish the organizing team an exciting, accident-free event and all athletes an unforgettable season highlight with many lasting impressions.

FOREWORD

State Councillor for Economy, Tourism and Sport Jochen Danninger

FIS Masters Ski World Championships 2023 Göstling

Even though Lower Austria allegedly seems flat, one can go up and beyond in our federal state, as our varied mountain world as well as our numerous skiing regions demonstrate. Therefore, the high-alpine ski area Göstling-Hochkar in the Mostviertel is the ideal venue for the FIS-Masters-Ski-World Championship 2023. Since many success stories in sports have already started in Göstling, the town is now known as a skiing-hotspot far over the national borders. Olympic bronze medallist Katharina Gallhuber, two-times overall slalom World Cup winner and Olympic bronze medallist Thomas Sykora as well as Olympic bronze medallist Kathrin Zettel call Göstling their home. With their incredible performances, our top athletes along with our sport legends are key role models for our younger generation. They continuously generate enthusiasm for winter sports and make sure that we'll be able to cheer on local top-skiers in the future.

As the regional minister of sports, I'm very excited that the FIS-Masters-Ski-World Championship is taking place for the second time in Lower Austria after being cancelled due to the Covid-19 pandemic in 2020. After the successful premiere 2014, we're going to see thrilling competitions in front of a perfect setting at this top-class winter sports spectacle again. Thanks to the event, Lower Austria can additionally position itself further as a winter sports destination and expect important boosts for local tourism and the economy. I hope that everything goes well, and I would like to sincerely thank the ski club Göstling-Hochkar for the outstanding organization of the event. My special recognition also goes to every helping hand and the commitment of the sponsors. I wish the audience a good time! Good luck to all the athletes, have fun and a safe competition!

WORDS OF WELCOME

President of the Regional Ski Association of Lower Austria, Wolfgang Labenbacher

Dear Masters athletes!

Welcome to the Regional Ski Association of Lower Austria. We are all in good hands again at SC Göstling-Hochkar. The SC is the largest ski club in Lower Austria and is very well known for its high quality and long-standing experience in masters-races. The Ski Club has proven its reliability many times and organizes numerous competitions in various categories every year.

In terms of sport, SC Göstling-Hochkar is one of the most successful clubs in the ÖSV. Many of our athletes have their origin in this club and appear in cadres of the ÖSV and the LSVNÖ.

The Hochkar is an ideal skiing area for the Masters competitions and we would like to thank the Hochkar Bergbahnen and the province of Lower Austria for their generous support. Our great respect goes to all volunteers, especially to the organization team around president Ing. Robert Fahrnberger.

The situation for ski racing in Lower Austria is nowadays especially aggravated by the warmer winters and global warming. The Hochkar, the largest and highest ski area in Lower Austria, thus became one of the most important training and racing areas for the LSVNÖ. This concentration of visitors leads to a great challenge for the ski area and the association. Thanks are due for the always given idealistic willingness to hold ski races for our youngsters and to make trainings for the cadres and clubs possible.

I wish you and all of us a successful race week on the Hochkar!

Mountain pasture hiking in the Ybbstaler Alpen

Rustic cordiality with stunning views

The Ybbstaler Alpen are an insider tip for hiking enthusiasts and nature lovers.

Take a leisurely hike across mountain meadows, enjoy the view over flowers and peaks, breathe in the fresh air and enjoy a rustic alpine snack. Alpine hiking in the Ybbstaler Alps is an authentic mountain experience for all senses.

The alpine pastures on Dürrenstein, Hochkar, Königsberg & Co extend from the wild Mostviertel on the border with Styria all the way to the mild Mostviertler hills.

For example, you'll find the idyllic Herrenalm in Langau near Gaming, the almost kitschy Siebenhütten-Alm near Göstling, the children's paradise Kitzhütte near Hollenstein or the Ybbstalerhütte on the edge of the Dürrenstein Lassingtal wilderness area. Mostviertler hospitality is tangible here, being offered by rustic farmers serving hearty alpine snacks in a beautiful natural setting. And gladly share their personal stories about the mountains, the region and its people

Wilde Wunder included: From 29 April to 2 November 2023, vacationers young and old can enjoy free admission to a total of 52 attractions and programs with the "Wilde WunderCard."

Masters medals come from Europe's centre of metalworking

The official Masters medals of the FIS World Criterium Masters in Göstling combine traditional with high-tech craftsmanship. They represent the past and the future of the so-called „Eisenstrasse“ region, the „Iron Road“ region of Lower Austria.

With over 160 companies - more than a dozen of them leading enterprises successful on the world market - the metalworking industry is one of the biggest and most attractive employers of the Eisenstraße region in Lower Austria.

The fact that world-class companies as well as aspiring niche players have their headquarters right here - in the Ybbstal and Erlauftal valleys - also becomes apparent if you take a closer look at the medals for the FIS World Criterium Masters: Two innovative enterprises - Forster

Verkehrs- und Werbetechnik located in Waidhofen an der Ybbs as well as „Die Metallprofis“ based in Gresten-Land - produced the high-quality medals. The red ribbons come from the Berger company in Ybbsitz.

The design was created by designer Joseph Hofmarcher, and the project was coordinated by the association „Eisenstrasse“. Many thanks are due to the company directors Christian Forster and Berthold Hinterleitner and to the Berger family.

WORDS OF WELCOME

Ski Club Chairman Robert Fahrnberger

Dear friends of the sport, dear participants, dear guests,

A very warm welcome to the FIS World Criterium for Masters Alpine Skiing from 20 to 25 March 2023 in Götstling an der Ybbs in Lower Austria.

As the head of organisation and chairman of the Götstling-Hochkar Ski Club, I am very happy you are interested in this event or even participating in it. We hope that we will be able to provide you with the most important information about the event in this small brochure.

The story about the lead-up to the 2023 Masters world championship:

When we as the Götstling-Hochkar Ski Club were tasked with organising the first international Masters ski races in 2007, namely the World Cup Finals of the Masters, we had no idea of the impression our hospitality, good organization and race execution on our apparently very Masters-suitable race slopes on the Hochkar would make.

Following the success of this Masters World Cup Final from 12 to 14 April 2007 despite very spring-like temperatures, we were commissioned by the FIS and the ÖSV to organize the Masters World Championships 2014.

The 1st Masters World Championship from 24 to 29.3.2014 in Götstling-Hochkar was also carried out to the great satisfaction of everyone. We got a lot of praise for the organisation and execution of the race again. Even to this day, people in the Masters field speak in praise of the Masters World Championships 2014 in Götstling.

On 5 and 6 April 2019, we then had the privilege of successfully hosting the Masters World Cup Finals again for the second time.

It was with great pleasure that we then received a request in the fall of 2019 to hold the second Masters Skiing World Championships in Götstling again in 2020, which we gladly accepted. Unfortunately, this second Masters World Championships planned for 23-28 March 2020 in Götstling then had to be cancelled at short notice two weeks before the start due to the coronavirus pandemic starting at that time. A lot of work and effort was in vain.

The FIS then offered us a subsequent event in March 2023 for this cancelled World Championships.

Masters World Championships 2023, a pleasure and a new challenge

We gladly accepted the opportunity to hold the previously cancelled World Championships. We did so in the knowledge that countless hours of preparation work, massive upgrading of the necessary equipment, e.g. for timekeeping, slope safety, etc., and a huge number of volunteers would be required for the races to be held simultaneously on two competition slopes.

The special challenge for these Masters World Championship races is that, in contrast to "normal World Cup races", there are not merely 70 skiers per race at the start, but that up to 350 participants must compete on the same race course each day.

Of course, this places special demands on the organisation, the entire competition team, the slope preparation as well as the slope support during the race. But with the excellent team of the ski club and all its helpers as well as the excellent support of the partners and the Hochkar Bergbahnen, even these special requirements seem to be meetable in Götstling.

Financing this major event is a challenge as well. The entry fees of the participants themselves can only cover a small part of the total financial requirements. The remaining funds required are therefore to be raised by us as organisers together with our partners and sponsors.

Despite a good economic situation, it was a challenge to find good and reliable partners for this major event. That makes us all the more grateful to our current partners who, in addition to their own economic objectives, have also committed themselves to image cultivation in the form of support for the regional community. We would like to thank and acknowledge them for not only thinking about their own profit, but also about the environment of their employees and customers, and for actively supporting this major event.

In terms of the event sector, this year's Masters Ski World Championships represent the absolute highlight in the history of the Götstling-Hochkar Ski Club, which dates back to 1932.

A big THANK YOU and a sincere "COMMENDATION" is due to the entire organisation and competition team for the excellent cooperation and support during the preparations, the numerous, exclusively voluntary helpers, the event partners and the great patrons and sponsors of the economy.

I wish the visitors a wonderful and pleasant time in Götstling, with many beautiful personal experiences and memories.

I wish the participants of the Masters World Championships 2023 a lot of fun and joy at the races as well as comfortable and accident-free days in Götstling-Hochkar in Lower Austria.

Robert Fahrnberger

Chairman of the Götstling-Hochkar Ski Club

Brief information about the Götting-Hochkar Ski Club

The Götting-Hochkar Ski Club was founded in 1932 and is based in Götting an der Ybbs in Lower Austria at the foot of the Hochkar ski paradise. The number of members of the ski club is constantly increasing and is currently at around 740 members from 4 nations or 55 different communities.

Sports area:

The Götting-Hochkar Ski Club has developed into a true talent factory for alpine and Nordic skiing and has grown into a successful ski club.

So far, 43 athletes of the Götting-Hochkar Ski Club have taken part in international FIS competitions. 15 made it to the European Cup, 9 to the World Cup level.

Several of them have already achieved top successes worldwide. Our previous stars in the international Ski World Cup were Elfi Deußl (in the 70s), Thomas Sykora (in the 90s), Andreas Buder, Matthias Toppelreither and Kathrin Zettel in recent years. Currently active in the various World Cups are Johannes Aujesky in ski cross, Christoph Krenn and Katharina Gallhuber in the Alpine Ski World Cup. Other young talents of the Götting Ski Club are currently already on their way to the top as well.

However, there is a reason for these successes: the Götting ski kids are looked after by the ski club's team of trainers from the "Pistenflitzer" ("little slope whizzers") level, from kindergarten age up to World Cup readiness, in training groups adapted to their ability and at low cost for the parents. In order to make these favourable conditions and services possible for the athletes, the ski club organises numerous events and company events every year, as well as cooperations with successful businesses.

Events sector:

Every year, between 30 and 50 ski races are held by the Götting-Hochkar Ski Club. Because of the fact that snow is guaranteed in the Hochkar ski area, more and more often races from other ski areas have to be taken over at short notice when there is a lack of snow there.

The club's history can also already point to the successful staging of countless international FIS races, national championships, European Cup races, the Masters World Cup Finals in 2007 and 2019 and the Masters Ski World Championships in 2014.

Hosting ski races for companies has also been part of the ski club's standard programme for decades. All events are run exclusively by volunteers from the ski club.

Our racing and training centre, the Hochkar:

The Hochkar, with its guaranteed snow due to its location and altitude, has been a centre of attraction for Götting's athletes, coaches and officials in winter for decades. The uniqueness of the slope structure offers the ideal conditions and the right offer for all required performance categories. No slope on the Hochkar resembles another, every slope has its own profile. The experienced staff and slope equipment drivers of the Hochkar Bergbahnen time and again create the much-admired quality of the slopes in all weather conditions.

No club house or restaurant

However, one looks in vain for a club house or restaurant of the Götting-Hochkar Ski Club in Götting, as it would certainly be too small. The extensive day-to-day work of the club is done in the home offices of the many club officials. The available infrastructure in the town is used for organisational and team meetings.

The Götting Ski Club is supported by the local business community and also ensures that its numerous events once again provide a boost to the sales of local businesses. The training and racing material, which is available in large quantities, is stored in various storage rooms and containers close to the slopes.

90 Years of Götting-Hochkar Ski Club

The 90th anniversary of the ski club saw an anniversary brochure produced, which contains the history and the sporting successes of the ski club's athletes.

The Masters cover painting

Winner of the painting competition for the cover of the Masters Ski world championship:

One artist convinced the jury in the course of a painting competition.

Those responsible at the SC Götting-Hochkar Ski Club had not anticipated such a great response: 48 hobby artists and pupils took part in the creative competition to design the World Championship poster for the FIS World Criterium Masters.

A jury chose the winning painting: The stylish work by Gerhard Moschinger from Feistritz am Wechsel will also adorn the official World Championship poster and all banners at the WCM 2023.

Winter at Hochkar

High alpine pleasure in the eastern Alps

You are already looking forward to alpine high pleasure in the Ybbstaler Alps? And rightly so! With its 1,808 meters of altitude, the Hochkar is the highest skiing area in Lower Austria and is considered absolutely snow-sure.

In addition to mountain-wise distant views of over a hundred 2000-meter peaks, it offers plenty of enjoyment and skiing pleasure both on and off the slopes.

With 19 perfectly groomed kilometers of slopes, 8 lifts and the best snow conditions, Hochkar is the first place to go for unforgettable skiing pleasure. So it's no wonder that World Cup stars like Thomas Sykora, Kathrin Zettel and Katharina Gallhuber come from the region!

But also far away from skiing and snowboarding fun, winter vacationers will find a wide range of offers. Whether in the Ybbstaler brine bath, on the cross-country trails on the Hochreit plateau or while winter hiking through the picturesque landscape - one thing is guaranteed for you on the Hochkar: Once there, you won't want to leave in a hurry!

Fantastic slopes. Unique panorama. Rustic huts. This is how skiing fun on the Hochkar works!
